

DEPARTURES

MEMBER LOGIN

JOIN OUR NEWSLETTER

CITY GUIDES TRAVEL FASHION ART + CULTURE HOME + DESIGN

Hotels

The Best of Glamping

By Sarah Gold, Avery Stone and Jen Murphy on May 18, 2017

Courtesy Sher Bagh

Sher Bagh, Rajasthan, India

Ranthambore National Park, a 150-square-mile swath of protected wilderness in southeastern Rajasthan, is India's prime destination for spotting rare Bengal tigers. It was also once the private hunting ground of maharajahs, so it's no surprise that you can still camp here in splendor fit for royalty. This compound of 12 elegantly furnished tents, set amid a private grove of mango and peepal trees just outside the park, is one of the only Relais & Chateaux tented properties in the world; after a day of game drives (spotting leopards, langurs, and sloth bears as well as tigers), relax in your airy safari-style tent outfitted with Edwardian teak and rosewood furniture, luxuriate in your private stone shower enclosure, enjoy a cocktail on your shaded deck, or even kick back with air conditioning on. From $622; Ranthambhore Rd.; 91-74/6225-2120; sujanluxury.com. —SG